

Adjunct Offer Letter Addendum

The UNT Policy Manual contains the official policies and procedures of the University of North Texas. All adjunct faculty members should acquaint themselves with the Policy Manual which can be found on the web at <http://www.unt.edu/policy/>. Adjunct faculty should be aware that colleges, schools and departments may have additional policies and procedures unique to the unit that they need to familiarize themselves with as well.

Adjunct Faculty are Required to Complete or Attend the Following:

- New adjunct faculty and those rehired, with more than a one-semester break in service (excluding summers), are required to complete on-line new adjunct orientation. During these sessions various modules will provide information about UNT. Adjunct faculty members can choose to learn about benefits and will be given direction to enroll in various benefit plans, if applicable.
- College/school or departmental faculty orientations and/or required faculty meetings.

Adjunct Faculty may be Requested to Attend the Following:

- Faculty/Staff Convocation at the beginning of the fall semester.
- Graduation ceremonies at the end of each semester.

Transcripts

Prior to the first day of the adjunct's faculty member's duties at UNT, there must be on file in the departmental office, official transcripts of the highest degree completed. If a terminal degree is completed after the adjunct faculty member begins his/her teaching duties at UNT, a new official transcript indicating the awarding of the degree must be filed immediately in the departmental office.

Faculty Criminal History Checks

To be employed as an adjunct faculty member at the University of North Texas, the adjunct faculty member must receive clearance of a satisfactory criminal history check. Providing the authorization to conduct the criminal history check is a term of employment. Criminal history checks must be completed for all first time hires and for those rehired with more than a two-year break in service. The Faculty Criminal History Check Authorization Form will be provided with your offer letter if applicable.

Onboarding

Onboarding is UNT's required process for new employees to submit their information via a secure, self-service portal. During this process new adjuncts will need to provide information regarding, employment eligibility that establishes identity and employment eligibility (I-9); biographical data; withholding allowance (W-4); selective service; and direct deposit.

The Faculty Information System

UNT relies on the Activity Insight software solution provided by Digital Measures to gather information on faculty accomplishments and activities. This system is also used by over 600 other U.S. colleges and universities. At UNT, this system is used for accreditation purposes, to comply with certain requirements specified in state law, for some internal evaluation processes, and to showcase our faculty to the public. While it is not required that you do so before you begin employment, you might want to get an early start on this important task. The FIS team will notify you when a shell in the system has been created for you. This should occur prior to the first day of classes, and you can access and edit your profile through the my.unt.edu portal. It is important to know that faculty members are required to keep their profiles updated. If you have questions about the system, or to request that an existing profile you have from a previous institution using this same system be transferred to UNT, please contact faculty.info@unt.edu. To access additional information relating to the Faculty Information System, please go to <https://vpaa.unt.edu/faculty-information-system-0>.

Foreign Nationals

New adjunct faculty who are foreign nationals (non-resident aliens and U.S. permanent residents) must complete the Foreign National Information Form (FNI) and present it with required documentation to the Payroll Office before any payment can be made. The FNI Form may be found on the UNT System Payroll website: https://www.untsystem.edu/sites/default/files/foreign_national_form.pdf

Position offers made to foreign nationals are contingent upon the person having all appropriate visas and other documentation required for legal employment in time for assuming the position's duties. If a temporary employment-based visa is required, the employee needs to contact the UNT International Office immediately. As a non-U.S. citizen, continued employment at UNT is contingent upon maintenance of appropriate work authorization throughout the employment. If an extension or change of status petition related to the work authorization is denied or delayed, employment will be terminated effective with the expiration date of the current work authorization documents.

Payroll

The pay period for the fall semester is September 1 – January 15 and for the spring semester it is January 16 – May 31 regardless of when classes begin and end. Faculty members are paid on the first working day of the month for the previous month's work. If a state holiday falls on that day, payday shall be the following day. For adjunct faculty beginning in the fall, the first payday is the first working day in October. Checks are available in the departmental offices or may be distributed by electronic funds transfer (direct deposit) to the employee's checking or savings account at any bank in the United States. To arrange for the latter, the faculty member must have completed UNT's onboarding process.

Insurance and Retirement Benefits

All new regular faculty members who are employed at .5 FTE or greater are eligible for health insurance. Once enrolled, coverage will begin on the first of the month following a 60-day waiting period from their date of hire. There is no waiting period if the new faculty member is a direct transfer from another Texas state institution covered by the Group Benefits Program administered by the Employees Retirement System. The effective date of the retirement programs (Teachers Retirement Program or the Optional Retirement Program) is the first date of employment. Please see the UNT Faculty & Staff Benefits Guide at: <https://www.untsystem.edu/sites/default/files/forms/human-resources/unt-faculty-staff-benefits-guide-april2017.pdf> for additional information, or you can contact HR Benefits for more information on these programs.

Teaching Loads and Schedules

Faculty members should discuss teaching loads and schedules as early as possible with their departmental chairs. Some colleges and schools at UNT offer courses during the day and evening hours both on- and off-campus. Thus, faculty may be asked to teach at various times and locations within the DFW area.

Textbooks and Departmental Assistance

Faculty members should be familiar with departmental procedures for classroom support, including administrative assistant support, use of teaching assistants, textbook ordering, etc. Ordering textbooks or supplementary texts for classes may be time consuming and should be initiated as soon as the hiring process is concluded and the new faculty member is aware of his/her teaching assignment(s).
