UNT Faculty Mentoring Program Expectations

Faculty Success expects mentoring pairs to treat each other with respect, be considerate while giving honest feedback, and keep confidentiality except where otherwise noted below. Mentoring pairs should communicate frequently and meet at least two or three times per semester for a year. Mentoring relationships may be extended beyond a year but can also be terminated at any time with no fault attached. Unless otherwise noted, Faculty Success expects mentees to set meeting times and agendas based on their needs and goals.
