

RESEARCH AWARDS

Early Career Award For Research & Creative Activity

Jill Talbot

English

Named a “formidable talent” by The Boston Globe, Dr. Jill Talbot is the author of Loaded: Women and Addiction and The Way We Weren't: A Memoir. She’s also the editor of the anthology, Metawritings: Toward a Theory of Nonfiction. Her work has been listed as Notable in the Best American Essays series for the past four years. In 2017, she received The Preston Award for Outstanding Upper-Division Teaching. Talbot, an Associate Professor of English, is the Nonfiction Editor for American Literary Review, the journal of the creative writing program at UNT.

