RE: National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), Summer Stipend Program

Faculty Success is accepting nominations for the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), Summer Stipend program for projects beginning May 1, 2023. These awards provide support to individuals pursuing advanced research that is of value to humanities scholars, general audiences, or both. Typical outcomes include articles, monographs, books, digital materials, archeological site reports, translations, editions, or other scholarly resources. The $6,000 stipend supports projects at any stage of development for a period of two consecutive months. UNT has the opportunity to nominate up to two faculty members for the summer stipend awards.

Candidate Qualifications

Full-time tenure/ tenure-track faculty members are eligible to apply. Individuals who have held or been awarded a major fellowship or research grant or its equivalent within the three academic years prior to the deadline may not apply. A “major fellowship or research grant” is a postdoctoral research award that provides a stipend of at least $15,000. Development leaves and grants from the University of North Texas and stipends and grants from other sources supporting study and research during the summer are not considered major fellowships. Please visit the NEH website for more information on eligibility requirements and webinars on developing a successful proposal.

Institutional Selection Process

Interested candidates must submit a one-page narrative outlining the intellectual justification for the project with objectives, methods, and work plan. Along with the narrative, candidates must submit a two-page curriculum vitae (i.e., a concise summary of publications, presentations, and other relevant scholarly activity). Please refer to the NEH website for examples of nomination materials. Interested candidates should submit the narrative and curriculum vitae to faculty.success@unt.edu by August 31, 2022. A selection committee, appointed by the Vice Provost of Faculty Success, will review the applications and notify the nominees no later than September 10, 2022.

Final Submission

Final nominations are due on September 21, 2022. UNT nominees are responsible for preparing and uploading their final submission materials on the grants.gov website, with assistance from the Office for Faculty Success. I hope that you will consider submitting your materials or encouraging a colleague to do so.
